

Thought Leadership The Future of Documents

François Ragnet,
Managing Principal
Technology Information
Xerox Global Services

[www.xerox.com/
thoughtleadership_ragnet](http://www.xerox.com/thoughtleadership_ragnet)

Let François Ragnet show you a smarter, more productive future.

Lori,

Discover the latest document innovations and technological advances with François Ragnet. His blog, The Future of Documents, focuses on a time when smarter documents will revolutionize the business world. A world where a new, multimedia understanding of the word "document" will enable paperless offices and unheard-of productivity.

He believes this streamlined era is not far off.

François is in charge of integrating the most cutting-edge document technologies into mainstream Xerox products and services. His experience at the Xerox Research Centre in Grenoble, France, makes him uniquely qualified to bridge the gap between science and the real world of business.

Explore Francois' frequently updated commentary on how the latest technology is impacting document management. It's a thought-starting launch pad with links to podcasts, webinars, white paper downloads and more.

If you're interested in the technological possibilities of tomorrow, go to Francois blog now.

Visit François' blog

Learn more about François