In the last hearing, Chief Justice DN Patel, referring to the May 24 fire at a coaching centre in Surat that left 22 dead, had said these centres run air-conditioners in small places to accommodate more students and risk their lives. He said these centres were consuming more power than the sanctioned amount, leading to chances of short circuit.

In an affidavit filed before a bench of Chief Justice DN Patel and Justice C Hari Shankar, DFS said the Delhi Fire Services Rules, 2010 contained provisions to enforce fire and safety provisions of the Building By Laws or the National Building Code in India in residential buildings that are likely to cause risk of fire.

"It is submitted that commercial coaching centres are not covered under Delhi Fire Service Rules. A meeting was held by the Chief Secretary
