

Suzan Morno-Wade

Chief Human Resources Officer

Suzan Morno-Wade was named chief human resources officer of Xerox effective Nov. 29, 2018. She is also an executive vice president of Xerox Holdings Corporation.

Suzan leads Xerox's global human capital strategy to facilitate and support the company's success. She is responsible for instilling best practices around organization capability, talent management, learning, total rewards, HR technology and analytics and work environment practices required to drive business outcomes and future growth of the company.

Suzan joined Xerox in 2016 as vice president of Total Rewards to lead the compensation and benefits strategy. She has 20 years of progressive human resources leadership experience spanning several industries including posts at global companies such as Hess, Quantum, Mitsubishi, General Electric and Quaker Oats.

Suzan holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting from the University of Illinois.

-XXX-